Description

Aster cordifolius now known as Symphyotrichum cordifolium, is a woodland perennial that features masses of daisy-like, light blue flowers with yellow centers. This plant spreads by seed and rhizomously. This plant has an upright habit and a prolific bloomer. is a perfect choice to edge pathways or at the edge of woods. Very dry shade tolerant. Blooming for 4 weeks or longer, from late summer to late fall, this eye-catching beauty easily enlivens any sunny corner of the garden. Native to North America, it is easy to grow, long-lived, brings cheerful fall color, and is a great source of nectar for native bees and butterflies. Pinching back stems several times before mid-July will help control plant height and also delay flowering. It also makes excellent cut flowers.
