Description

Cyrtomium fortunei, commonly called holly fern, has fronds that resemble holly branches. It is native to Japan, Korea and China. It is a semi-evergreen fern that typically grows 12-24" tall. The leaves should be trimmed back to the base in late winter. Excellent bedding fern under larger shrubs and accent trees. Grows well in breezy sites and containers. This hardy fern is evergreen in mild winter climates. It is the most cold hardy of the entire assortment of ornamental holly ferns performing well in the harsh weather experienced in Zone 5 (where the fronds will hold up well under snow).
