

Heptacodium miconioides

Seven-Son Flower

Seven-Son Flower

Price : $23.00

Price includes 6% MD sales tax

Exposure Sun to Part Sun

Height 6' - 10'

Spread 6' - 10'

Spacing 6'-10'

Bloom Color White (red bracts later)

Bloom Time Summer to Fall

Deer resistant Yes

USDA Hardiness Zone 5-9

Other deciduous, specimen or focal point, pollinator friendly,

Description

Temple of Bloom seven-son flower is a beautiful, easy to grow small tree. In spring, leaves emerge, each sporting dramatically deep veins that make the plant stand out in the landscape. Come August, it becomes covered in big clusters of fragrant white flowers that attracts hummingbirds and other pollinators. They last for weeks before falling to reveal vivid red, fan-like bracts, which make it look like the plant is blooming again in a completely different color. As winter comes and the leaves drop, the plant's elegant frame is revealed, along with amazing light tan peeling bark. Plant it where it can be seen, often, and enjoyed any time of the year.